

- FIVE SENSES FESTIVAL -

Pilobolus's acclaimed summer festival returns, promising even more breathtaking art, music, dance, nature, food, ideas, and family activities!

The performance lineup boasts returning favorites: Grammy-winning banjoist Béla Fleck and cellist/activist Ben Sollee, violinist Simone Porter, and Nortec Collective; new artists and collaborators from Litchfield County and around the world: southern gothic singer Amythyst Kiah, banjoist and singer Abigail Washburn, Chilean songwriter Nano Stern; of course, Pilobolus, and many more!

This year's Festival features expanded programming for kids and families – as well as childcare, wellness activities, and social dance classes. The site boasts new features including a grotto sculpted by Randy Polumbo installed in the silo, new flourishes on the amphitheater designed by Mark Mennin, and a tent dedicated to kids' activities.

Festival events are low-cost or free, with support from the Five Senses Ball and local community foundations.
